There are a lot of resources that aren't defined in the root-vo (/gcube) but they are only defined in the VO scope (/gcube/devsec). the fast way for porting these resources on /gcube/preprod scope is to copy all the resources from devsec to preprod (in this way the two resources have a different id).

Otherwise it's need to define from scratch all the resources in root VO and after that, perform the "addToScope" operation for every VO and VRE in the gcube infrastructure. This way take much more time but it is more clean. What do you suggest, @gianpaolo.coro@isti.cnr.it , @pasquale.pagano@isti.cnr.it ?

I would advice to copy the resources. Creating them from scratch brings high risk of introducing errors and is very time consuming.

The following resource: Database/FishCodesConversion , is not present in /gcube/devsec VO. @gianpaolo.coro@isti.cnr.it is it right?

This is needed by AquaMaps, which I guess is in the production env. only.
