@valentina.marioli@isti.cnr.it which one in

workspace-repository-devnext IN CNAME workspace-repository1-d.d4science.org
workspace-repository-devsec IN CNAME workspace-repository2-d.d4science.org
workspace-repository1-d.d4science.org IN A 146.48.122.137
workspace-repository2-d.d4science.org IN A 146.48.122.140
workspace-repository3-d.d4science.org IN A 146.48.122.135

is the VM that was used to test Jackrabbit OAK?

#3 - Jul 19, 2017 12:52 PM - Valentina Marioli

If I remember correctly, I have used workspace-repository3-d.d4science.org and ws-repo-mongo-d.d4science.org.

Note:

[jackrabbit_devnext]
workspace-repository1-d.d4science.org
workspace-repository3-d.d4science.org

[jackrabbit_devsec]
workspace-repository2-d.d4science.org

[jackrabbit_dev_mongo]
ws-repo-mongo-d.d4science.org

workspace-repository1-d.d4science.org
workspace-repository3-d.d4science.org
workspace-repository2-d.d4science.org
ws-repo-mongo-d.d4science.org

workspace-repository1-d.d4science.org
workspace-repository3-d.d4science.org

workspace-repository2-d.d4science.org
ws-repo-mongo-d.d4science.org

Wasn't the plan to use the other two to port the dev workspace on a clustered instance too, and then get rid of node11.d.d4science?

The postgresql DB can be hosted by postgresql-srv-dev.d4science.org

Yes we have such a plan, hopefully we can make it before August.

To sum up the following will be used for the new Jackrabbit cluster over Postgres:

- workspace-repository1-d.d4science.org
- workspace-repository2-d.d4science.org

While the other 2 can be dismissed, and we will use postgresql-srv-dev.d4science.org for the DB.

OK. I'm shutting down workspace-repository3-d.d4science.org and ws-repo-mongo-d.d4science.org.

If the two others are going to be used before August I'll keep them alive, otherwise it's better to destroy them and create them again later.
We need a new task for the activity, anyway.
